Heavy Rain and Flash Flood Threat Through Saturday

Greatest Risk for Excessive Rainfall on Thursday and Friday, especially along and south of the I-10 corridor.

Issued

July 17, 2025 6:31 AM

What, When and Where:

Threats and Impacts

- Rainfall rates in excess of 2-3 inches per hour will likely lead to ponding of water in low lying and poor drainage areas at times.
- Some roads may become impassable, especially around underpasses. In localized areas of heaviest rainfall, some low lying structures may become flooded.
- Flash flood threat on Saturday is conditional on how much rain falls on Thursday and Friday.

Safety

Stay weather aware

Have multiple ways to get warnings

Avoid flooded roadways
